VI. The investment policy and the objectives of the investment fund, a description of the procedures for changing its investment strategy or investment policy

21. Description of the investment fund's investment objectives and specialization, including its financial objectives (e.g. capital growth or income, specialization in geographical or industrial sectors)

The Fund Manager has established Adventum SATIS HUF Feeder Fund as a private securities fund. The objective of the Fund is to invest in securities as investment tools whose issuer fully complies with the requirements of Article 8 of the SFDR (i.e. which promote environmental or social characteristics or combinations thereof and which follow good corporate governance practices), especially securities issued by Adventum PENTA Fund SCA SICAV-RAIF. In view of this, the Fund qualifies as an investment fund under Article 8 of the SFDR.

Investment policy of the PENTA Fund:

Adventum Penta Fund intends to achieve its investment objective by acquiring income-producing real estate, primarily Core+ office buildings (at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the net asset value will be allocated in the target region) in Central and Eastern Europe, particularly those located in Poland, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, and Hungary (the "Target Region").

Adventum Penta Fund may also target real estate investments in other Central and Eastern European jurisdictions within the European Union (in particular Bulgaria, Croatia, Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Romania, Slovenia, and Slovakia) of up to twenty-five percent (25%).

Real estate sectors other than office buildings as tactical allocation may amount to up to thirty percent (30%) of the total investment.

The aim of Adventum Penta Fund is to acquire mostly interest-only financing or use other financing structures with similar effect so that a yearly distribution of eight percent (8%) is possible to Limited Shareholders after all funds have been invested and a target of a four percent (4%) distribution is aimed after fifty percent (50%) of commitments have been drawn down based on the drawn commitments. The target internal rate of return is approximately twelve to fifteen percent (12-15%) from leveraged cash flow after all costs without any capital appreciation and approximately 18% with anticipated capital appreciation. These are target distribution amounts and target internal rates of return and the General Partner and the AIFM do not guarantee such return which may or may not be achieved depending on the development of Adventum Penta Fund.

All investments in real estate will be undertaken indirectly through real estate companies.

The Adventum Penta Fund may also invest up to forty-nine percent (49%) of its assets in liquid assets.

The PENTA Fund's ramp-up period is two (2) years from the date of the first closing. The acting partner may close the ramp-up period before the 2 (i.e. two) year period if the above risk diversification requirements are met.

The PENTA Fund may deviate from the above investment restrictions during the sale period at the discretion of the acting partner.

In order to limit the PENTA Fund's development risks, the PENTA Fund invests up to thirty-five percent (35%) of its net asset value in investment projects.

The PENTA Fund will not invest in real estate with a value of less than EUR 5,000,000, unless it is part of a larger portfolio or if the project and the investment is valued at more than EUR 5,000,000 after the planned project investment.

The AIFM must ensure that the investments of the PENTA Fund are diversified to such an extent that the investment risk is distributed in accordance with Luxembourgish law.

The Fund will not (i) enter into securities financing transactions and/or use total return swaps within the meaning of Regulation (EU) 2015/2365 of the European Parliament and the of the Council of 25 November 2015 on transparency of securities financing transactions and of reuse and amending Regulation (EU) 648/2012, and (ii) perform any short selling activities.

The Fund may not, at the time of the lapse of the ramp-up period, commit to invest more than 30% of its Gross Asset Value in any single underlying asset at the time of such investment. The above 30% Investment Restriction does not apply (i) during an initial ramp-up period of two (2) years after the First Closing or (ii) during the liquidation of Adventum Penta Fund (including any sale period, if any).

The detailed investment policy of the PENTA Fund is attached as Annex 2 of the present management policy.

The values laid out above shall be taken into account in proportion to 100% of net asset value of the Fund.

The above limits shall not be applied during the withdrawal process pursuant to Section 62 of these Management Regulations until the completion of the mandatory withdrawal, from the day when the condition set forth in Section 62 occurs, according to which the Fund Manager is obliged to withdraw the Units.

Limits shall also not be applied to any change in the stock resulting from the settlement of the redemption or sale of the Fund's investments.

The Fund Manager retains the right to deviate from the values set out above in line with the provisions of this Management Policy.

The Fund Manager does not intend to limit the maximum ratio of the collective investment security privately issued by the collective investment undertaking.

The reason for the alteration from the limits determined by the Government Decree is that at the time of the building of the portfolio of the Fund the implementation of the investment policy may be achieved more efficiently with the application of the limits set out above.

The above values are to be understood taking into account that the Fund invests most of its available capital in the securities of the PENTA Fund and does not intend to purchase other securities for more than 2% of the NAV and the Fund Manager will put every reasonable effort to invest the maximum possible amount in the securities of the PENTA Fund, taking into account any costs incurred by the Fund.

32. Where based on its investment policy, the total risk exposure of the investment fund to an institution arising from investments in the transferable securities or money market instruments issued by or in deposits placed or derivative transactions concluded OTC with that institution exceeds 20 per cent of the assets of the investment fund, a reminder of the specific risks arising from such exposure

The Fund keeps its cash and cash equivalents primarily with the Depositary. Liquid assets may in certain cases (sale of securities, yield payment) exceed 20% of the Fund's assets. Accordingly, risks may arise from the operation of the depositary institution.

Attention of the Investors is called that as a result of the investment policy of the Fund, the change in net asset value of the Fund dominantly depends on the exchange rate of PENTA Fund and the euro-forint exchange rate.

VII. Risks

37. Description of risk factors, and a description of how the AIFM is complying with the requirements of Subsection (5) of Section 16 of Act XVI of 2014

The Fund, through PENTA Fund invests indirectly into real estates. In general, real estate investments are among the lower risk investments. In terms of risk, it is positioned between treasury notes and shares, however, investment risk shall also be accounted with respect to Adventum SATIS HUF Feeder Fund. The Fund Manager aims to decrease the risk to the lowest level possible with all means provided for by law and the use of its comprehensive professional knowledge. It is essential for the Investor to study the risk factors before making an investment decision.

The risk profile of the Fund:

Political risk

The fiscal and monetary policies pursued by the bodies responsible for directing monetary and economic policy making in Hungary (i.e. the government and the central bank) influence heavily the level of yield on government securities and the valuation of equities in Hungary. Accordingly, the yield on units is also heavily influenced by the exchange rate system and interest rate policy adopted by the authorities. Moreover, the economic policy of the government in power (and of the central bank) also influences the way foreign investors perceive Hungary and the return expected from Hungarian bonds and equities.

Domestic macroeconomic risk

The yield level of the market of Hungarian government securities and hence the cost of financing companies and the level of capital expenditures are strongly influenced by Hungarian macroeconomic processes, particularly the course of inflation. Yield levels increasing in response to rising inflation impact unfavourably the market price of fixed income debt securities and may harm the profitability of businesses through holding back capital expenditure projects. As the yield on government securities may also influence property market returns, the rise of the latter will likewise have an impact on the value of property leased for longer periods. Hungary's balance of payments position and the balance of public finances (external and internal equilibrium) will also influence the above factors indirectly. Accordingly, Units are exposed to interest rate risk.

Futures transactions concluded for hedging purposes

The Fund does not intend to conclude derivative transactions.

Risks arising from derivative products

The Fund does not intend to conclude derivative transactions.

Investment risk

Forward to legislative provisions, the investment described in Section 21 constitute the portfolio of the Fund. As the portfolio is made up of a single security item, the performance of the Fund depends mostly on the performance of that security.

Liquidity risk

The liquidity of certain securities and properties may be low in some markets, i.e. it may be difficult to find sellers or buyers of the security or property. Accordingly, the sale of certain securities representing such assets may incur difficulties.

Real return risk

As a rising consumer price index always hides some uncertainty, inflation may surpass the yield on government securities during specific periods of the past. The nominal performance of the Fund may fall short of inflation in certain periods. That holds the risk of negative real return.

Exchange rate risk

Given that the PENTA Fund's securities are denominated in euros as part of the Fund's planned portfolio element, there is an exchange rate risk that affects the price of the units.

Risk arising from net asset value

The Fund Manager has developed the rules of calculating net asset value to ensure that the NAV reflects as accurately as possible the actual value of the assets of the Fund at any moment in time. The movement in the price of the security that is part of the Fund's portfolio has a major impact on the net asset value. One of the reasons for this is the nearly 100% weight of the security and the fact that the price of the security is set quarterly.

Depository risk

The investment instruments are registered by the Depository on a separate account. Risk resulting from possible changes of circumstances may affect the performance of the Fund.

Risk associated with changing tax regulations

The tax rules applicable to investment units, investment funds and investors may change unfavorably in the future (e.g. tax rate increase, introduction of a new tax type, termination of the preferential tax option, etc.), as a result of which the Fund and / or the Investor may be subject to a higher tax burden.

The risk associated with the distribution of units

When Investors submit orders for buying or redeeming Units, they are unaware of the exact price of the Units at which their orders will be filled. The price used for settlement is revealed only two days after the order date. Although by selecting the principles and methods of valuation used for calculating net asset value, as captured in this Management Policy, the Fund Manager aspired to ensure that the settlement price of the Units should reflect the prices of the investments of the Fund at order date, the lack of awareness of the actual price is a risk.

Since provisions of Section 60 of this Management Policy are conditions for the secondary market purchase or sale of Units, the eventual unsuccessful order resulting therefrom may also cause risk.

The risk of suspending the distribution of the units of the Fund

The Fund Manager and the Supervising Authority may suspend the distribution of Fund in the cases specified in Act XVI of 2014. When that occurs, Investors may not have access to the consideration due against their investments until suspension is lifted.

Counterparty risk

Partners to the transactions and contracts concluded by the Fund Manager on behalf of the Fund failing to perform their obligations in full may affect detrimentally the net asset value of the Fund and the market price of the Units.

The risk of borrowing

The Fund does not intend to borrow money.

Compliance with the terms laid out in Section 16(5) of Act XVI of 2014

To cover the liability risks associated with professional negligence, the Fund Manager sets aside additional own funds corresponding to 0.01% of the value of the portfolios of AIFs the Fund Manager manages.

Pandemic related risks

In connection with the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, new types of risks have emerged that have never been seen before in modern history. Dealing with this pandemic involves a number of risks (border closures, curfews / restrictions, etc.) that may also affect investment.

- 37.1 Where based on its investment policy, the total risk exposure of the investment fund to an institution arising from investments in the transferable securities or money market instruments issued by or in deposits placed or derivative transactions concluded OTC with that institution exceeds 20 percent of the assets of the investment fund, a reminder of the specific risks arising from such exposure

The Fund invests or will invest into Adventum PENTA Fund SCA SICAV-RAIF which is managed by the Fund Manager. As a result of this, a special risk is identifiable. Such risk is that after of the purchase of securities of Adventum PENTA Fund SCA SICAV-RAIF the Fund may be the owner of more than 20% of the securities.

The Fund holds its money instruments primarily at the Depository. Liquid assets may in certain cases (sale of securities) exceed 20% of the Fund's assets. Money instruments placed at one institution may mean risk resulting from the operation of the given institution.

- 37.2 Where an investment fund invests principally in any category of assets other than transferable securities or money market instruments, or where an investment fund replicates a specific index, a prominent statement drawing attention to that clause of the investment fund's investment policy

Not applicable.

- 37.3 Where the net asset value of an investment fund is likely to have high volatility due to its portfolio composition or the applicable portfolio management techniques, a reminder to that effect

Investors are reminded that it imposes significant risk that PENTA Fund invests directly or indirectly into properties through project companies. As a result of the revaluation of the properties, it may occur that the net asset value changes significantly. This may occur mainly if a property constitutes a significant part of the portfolio and during the assessment of the current value of the property a new, previously unknown circumstance has to be taken into account.

37.5 A description of the AIF's liquidity risk management, including the redemption rights and existing redemption arrangements with investors

The Fund Manager applies an appropriate liquidity management system to the Fund and monitors the liquidity risk of the Fund and that the liquidity profile of the Fund's investments is in line with the Fund's liabilities. The Fund Manager regularly performs stress tests under both normal and extraordinary liquidity conditions, which allows it to assess and monitor the liquidity risk of the Fund.

The Fund Manager shall ensure that the investment strategy, liquidity profile and redemption policy of the Fund are consistent with each other.

The Fund Manager keeps Investors informed about the composition of the portfolio by providing each Investor unique access via its website. Moreover, the Fund Manager may request Investors to declare their approval of decisions with material impact on the ratio of liquid assets. Redemption rights and redemption arrangements set up with Investors are discussed in Section 57 of this Management Policy.

38. Other information relating to the subject matter

The Fund takes into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities and meets the requirements set out in Article 8 of the SFDR through investments in the underlying securities as a financial product. Given that the Fund only invests in securities issued by an entity rated under Article 8 of the SFDR, the Fund qualifies as a financial product under Article 8 of the SFDR.

Pursuant to Article 6 of the SFDR Regulation, the Fund communicates the following information to Investors:

In addition to the provisions of Section 37, sustainability or so-called Climate Risks, may also arise in connection with the Fund's investments. With regard to Article 6 (1) (b) of the SFDR Regulation, accurate, modeled and detailed calculations are currently not available due to the lack of relevant historical data.

Climate Risks include, but are not limited to, environmental, social or political events or circumstances that could have an actual or potentially material adverse effect on the value of the Fund's investments. These risks may include risks related to the transition to a low-carbon economy and risks related to the physical effects of climate change.

- Political and legal environment

Climate change policies are constantly evolving. Their goals can generally be divided into two categories: policy actions that seek to limit the actions that cause adverse effects of climate change, or policy measures to help adapt to climate change. The risk and financial impact of policy changes depends on the nature and timing of the policy change itself.

Another important risk associated with this is the risk connected to litigation. The number of climate change lawsuits brought by property owners, municipalities, states, insurers, shareholders and non-profit organizations has started to increase in recent years. Such lawsuits are most often related to the inability of businesses to mitigate the effects of climate change, their failure to adapt to climate change, and the lack of disclosure of significant financial risks.

- Technological risks

Technological developments related to the transition to a low-carbon economy could also have a serious impact on the Fund. The competitive environment and changing technologies in relation to suppliers and service providers can also result in risks.

- Market risk related to sustainability

The effects of climate change on the market can be varied and complex, but one important area of these effects may be the shift in supply and demand for certain goods, products and services, given the increasing consideration of climate-related risks and opportunities.

- Reputational risks

Climate change also carries serious potential reputational risks associated with changing customer or community perceptions of the Fund's contribution to the fight against climate change or the transition to a low-carbon economy.

- Risks related to the physical effects of climate change

Physical risks from climate change can be event-driven (acute) or result from changes in longer-term (chronic) climate patterns. Physical risks may have financial consequences for the Fund, such as direct property damage and indirect effects of supply chain disruption. The financial performance of the Fund may also be affected by changes in the availability, supply and quality of water; as well as extreme temperature changes affecting the Fund's properties, their operations and the safety of their employees.

These Climate Risks may negatively affect the value of the investment and may increase other types of risks, such as domestic macroeconomic risk, counterparty risk or borrowing risk, etc. The Fund's potential Climate Risks may have a moderate impact on the value of the Fund's investments in the medium to long term.

Climate Risks are identified, managed and controlled by the Fund Manager's Risk Management Policy.

Information on fund-specific risks and how sustainability risks are integrated into investment decisions is set out in sections 65 of this Management Policy and sections 3.2, 3.3, 3.5, 21.4.9, 21.4.12 to 21.4.17 of the Offering Memorandum of the PENTA Fund.

Further information on sustainability is available on the Fund Manager's website: www.adventum.hu

VIII. Valuation of assets

39. Method of calculation, place and date of publication of net asset value, procedure upon errors in the calculation of net asset value

The Fund Manager calculates, and the Depositary verifies the net asset value of the Fund. Net asset value is calculated for Day T on Day T-1 using Day T-2 data in line with the valuation principles laid down in Chapter VIII.

Net asset value per unit is calculated to six decimal points by dividing the net asset value of the Fund on Day T with the number of units outstanding on Day T-2.

The net asset value of the Fund is calculated daily for each bank day and is published in an accessible manner for investors on the Fund Manager's webpage (www.adventum.hu).

The net asset value of the Fund is calculated from the balance of the assets held by the Fund (securities, sum of term and sight bank deposits, etc.) and the amounts payable and receivable by the Fund.

The Fund Manager does its best to ensure that any liabilities arising from the continuous performances burdening the Fund and any claims for receivables due to continuous performances are charged to the Fund daily on a pro-rated basis as expenses or income.

Detailed valuation principles are laid out in Sections 40 and 41 of this Management Policy.

Procedure upon errors in the calculation of net asset value

In the event of errors in the calculation of net asset value of the Fund, erroneous net asset values shall be corrected retrospectively at the time net asset value is first calculated after the error is detected, in the event the error is larger than one permille of the net asset value of the investment fund. When corrections are made, erroneous net asset values shall be rectified for each day for which net asset value has been calculated and was affected by the detected error. Disclosures of erroneous market price and data made outside the control of the Fund Manager or the Depositary are not classified as errors, provided that the Fund Manager or the Depositary have exercised proper care during the calculation of net asset value.

In the event units are marketed with an erroneous net asset value, the difference between sales prices based on the erroneous and the correct net asset value shall be cleared and settled with the investor in thirty days, except in the following cases:

- the difference in sales price per unit resulting from the erroneous calculation of net asset value falls short of one permille of the sales price per unit calculated on the basis of the accurate net asset value;
- the nominal amount to be settled per investor due to the difference in sales price calculated from the erroneous and the correct net asset value falls short of one thousand HUF; or
- the fund manager will not demand that the investor reimburse the difference in sales price arising from the detection and rectification of an error made by the investment fund manager in the calculation of net asset value, provided that the investment fund manager or the Depositary replenishes to the Fund the amount by which the assets of the investment fund are reduced.

40. Valuation of assets in the portfolio, a description of the valuation procedure and of the pricing methodology for valuing assets, including the methods used in valuing hard-to-value assets in accordance with Section 38 of Act XVI of 2014

Rules of appraising component assets in the portfolio

The valuation of individual assets in the portfolio of the Fund is conducted according to the following rules:

Current account

Current account balances are taken into account for the purposes of calculating net asset value on the basis of the number of days up to Day T, not including Day T, adding accumulated interest.

Term deposits

Investments placed as long-term deposits are taken into account for the purposes of calculating net asset value on the basis of the number of days up to Day T, not including Day T, adding accumulated interest.

Discount Treasury Bills

The value of government securities included in the primary distribution circle shall be calculated on the basis of the central exchange rate determined as the arithmetic average of the best buying and selling price published by the ÁKK.

If the given security is quoted on the stock exchange at a net price, and thus since the previous interest payment the central rate does not include interest accrued until the T-day, then when determining the market value, the interest accrued from the last interest payment until the T-day shall be added to the net price of the security in question.

If the remaining maturity of the discount treasury bill is less than 91 days, the T-day rate of the discount treasury bill shall be determined on the basis of the three-month reference yield published by the ÁKK.

If the stock price includes interest accrued since the last interest payment but there was no turnover on the T-1 stock exchange day, the last average exchange rate shall be increased by interest accrued between the last trading day and the T-day.

Government securities issued by a Member State of the European Union or the OECD

- in the case of securities listed on the stock exchange, the gross price calculated from the closing price of the reference exchange if it is not older than 15 calendar days (compared to the T-day)
- if there is no strike rate not older than 15 days from the T-day, the gross exchange rate calculated from the net purchase price to the T-day shall be the valuation price.

Collective investment securities

The Fund invests in the securities of PENTA Fund. The rates with respect to these securities are determined on a quarterly basis. The security is valued at the most recent rate, from the reference date that the value is available.

As the units of the Fund are denominated in HUF, all component assets of the portfolio which are not expressed in HUF are converted at the official foreign exchange rates quoted by the National Bank of Hungary so as to facilitate the daily calculation of HUF based units. Net asset value is calculated for Day T on Day T-1 using Day T-2 data.

54. Details of whether deductions are made at source from the income and capital gains paid to investors

The taxation of investors

Private individuals

The portion of the income due to a private individual upon redeeming, returning or transferring the units of a private investment fund as established under the rules governing capital gains classifies as taxable income under Section 67 of the Act on Personal Income Tax, regardless of the way such income is divided into items such as net market value and accumulated interest or dividend.

Subsections 67(5)-(6) of the Act on Personal Income Tax provide that the payer shall assess the amount of income realized from the receipts, the tax and tax advance corresponding to the legal title of the income relying on the data and information the payer has or can ascertain on the day of payment or taking into account the acquisition costs and incremental costs verified by the private individual, and shall declare and pay such income in accordance with the Act on the Rules of Taxation. When declaring in their tax declarations the total income from capital gains in a fiscal year or when self-checking their tax declarations, private individuals may recognise the portion of value spent on and the ancillary costs incurred by acquiring securities, which the payer failed to consider for the purposes of assessing the income.

Forward to Section 8 of the Act on Personal Income Tax, the applicable rate of tax and tax advance is 15 percent starting 1 January 2016.

Furthermore, Section 1(5) point d) of Act LII of 2018 on Social Contribution Tax (hereinafter: Social Contribution Act) provides that a private individual is liable for paying social contribution tax at the rate defined by Section 2(1) of the Social Contribution Tax after the

In addition to Section 18(1) of the Social Contribution Act, the paying agent deducts the tax from the private individual and pays and declares it until the 12th day following the allowance.

Pursuant to Section 29 of the Social Contribution Act, the individual person shall pay taxes for a calendar year after incomes of Section 1(5) a-d) until he/she declares to the paying agent that he/she has reached the upper limit of tax payment. The private individual may declare that his/her incomes according to Section 1 (1-3) and Section 1 (5) a-d) are expected to reach the upper limit of tax payment. If the incomes of the private individual as described previously do not reach the upper limit of tax payment, the private individual person shall declare his/her tax liability increased by 6 percent in his/her tax declaration relating to personal income tax with respect to the fiscal year and shall pay this until the deadline prescribed for the submission of the tax declaration.

If the private individual is in overpayment or the paying agent deducts more than the payable tax, the private individual may reclaim the overpayment in his/her tax declaration for the fiscal year. If the payable tax in the fiscal year exceeds the amount deducted by the paying agent, the private individual declares the difference in his/her tax declaration submitted for personal income tax with respect to the fiscal year and shall pay this until the deadline prescribed for the submission of the tax declaration. If the private individual shall pay tax pursuant to Section 1 (5) a-d) or exercises his/her reclaim right according to (3), it shall submit tax declaration for personal income tax for the fiscal year. The private individual is not required to declare the tax if the paying agent deducts the tax, and the private individual is not required to submit tax declaration according to the Act on Personal Income Tax.

The taxation of resident business organisations and other legal entities

The dividend on units held by resident business organisations and other legal entities is added to their taxable income. Tax on these incomes need to be paid in accordance with the tax regulations applicable to such taxpayers from time to time.

The taxation of non-residents

If a treaty on the avoidance of double taxation in effect between Hungary and the home country where the unit holder pays taxes, any income tax is subject to the regulations in effect in the country of residence or home country forward to the provisions of the treaty. If no such treaty exists, non-residents are subject to the same tax regulations as residents. The Distributor performs its duty to withhold taxes with reference to the relevant tax treaty and Hungarian tax regulations.

XIV. Continuous distribution of the units

The Fund Manager markets Units through the Distributor at the venues and during the hours specified for distribution. Distribution and calculating the distribution price follow the rules laid out in this Chapter:

The shareholder's equity of the Fund and the number of outstanding Units keeps changing during the operation of the Fund due to the sale and redemption (distribution) of the Units.

The shareholder's equity of the Fund during operations equals the aggregate net asset value of the Fund, which is also identical to the product of multiplying the number of outstanding Units with the net asset value per each outstanding unit. There is no cap on the number of outstanding Units, but the total face value of the Units a single investor may purchase is maximised at twenty million Euro (EUR 20,000,000).

Applicable as set forth in Section 58.1.

59. Determining the purchase or redemption price of the units

59.1 The method and frequency of the price calculation

The Fund Manager calculates the net asset value of the Fund. Net asset value is calculated daily for each bank day Net asset value is calculated for Day T on Day T-1 using Day T-2 data in line with the valuation principles laid down in Chapter VIII.

Net asset value per unit is calculated to six decimal points by dividing the net asset value of the Fund on Day T with the number of units outstanding on Day T-2.

The net asset value of the Fund is calculated from the balance of securities, and the sum of term and sight bank deposits held by the Fund and the amounts payable and receivable by the Fund.

The Fund Manager does its best to ensure that any liabilities arising from the continuous performances burdening the Fund and any claims for receivables due to continuous performances are charged to the Fund daily on a pro-rated basis as expenses or income.

Detailed valuation principles are laid out in Chapter VIII of this Management Policy.

59.2 Information concerning the highest amount charged in commissions upon purchasing or redeeming the units and an indication whether these are payable - in part or in full - to the fund, to the distributor or to the fund manager

The Fund is set up to generate profits for the Investors by implementing the investment policy discussed in Section 21.

Distributor's commission is charged on both purchases and redemptions as laid out below:

Purchases:

Starting 28 May 2022, distribution commission is charged at 50% of the net asset value per unit valid on Trade Payment Date multiplied by the number of units to be bought.

The distribution commission charged on purchases is payable to the Fund.

Method of calculating distribution commission on purchases after 28 May 2022:

Where:

p_x The net asset value per unit of the filled purchase db_x The number of units actually purchased

Distribution commission on purchases after 28 May 2022= $p_x * db_x * 0.50$

Redemptions:

Commission at 50% is charged to the redeeming unit holder if the redemption date is before 31. May 2029. The commission on redemption is based on the net asset value per unit valid on redemption date (Trade Payment Date) multiplied by the number of units to be redeemed. In such cases the commission on redemption is payable to the Fund.

Method of calculating commission on redemption:

Where:

p_x The net asset value per unit of the filled redemption db_x Number of units redeemed commission on redemption= $p_x * db_x * 0.50$

From 1 June 2029, commission on redemption shall not be paid.

60. Other information relating to the subject matter

Limitations apply to the transferability of the units in the secondary market of securities in order to keep the private nature of the securities. The units may be transferred without limitation only if the face value of the volume transferred reaches at least HUF 50,000,000 (i.e. at least a single unit is transferred) or any integral multiple thereof and if the Fund Manager has previously approved the transfer in writing.

In case of secondary market transactions, the Investor shall provide information to the Fund Manager about the executed transaction with view to the above.

In alternative cases, security transfers that fail to meet these conditions are deemed to be null and void.

Pursuant to Section 106 (1) of the Act XVI of 2014, in addition to informing the Fund Manager of the amount and number of purchase and redemption orders for investment units, the Distributor shall also provide the Fund Manager with the data recorded by the Distributor of Investors and their representatives.

According to Act XVI of 2014 such data transfer does not qualify as a breach of securities secrecy or business secrecy pursuant to the Capital Markets Act. The Fund Manager shall only use the data provided to it on the basis of the above only within the framework of the provisions on securities secrecy, for the purpose necessary for its investment fund management activities, in particular to inform the Investors and to obtain the approval of the Investors.

By submitting a subscription order for the purchase of the investment certificate, the Investor acknowledges that it has received the Management Policy and has read it, in particular with regard to the risks associated with the investment certificates. By submitting a subscription order for the purchase of a unit, the Investor acknowledges that the investment meets the risk-bearing capacity and makes the order for the subscription of the Fund's Units having read the Management Policy, with unconditional and irrevocable acceptance thereof.

XV. Other Information relating to the Fund

61. Historical performance of the Fund

As the National Bank of Hungary registered the Fund on 12 July 2021, there is no data relating to past performance.

62. Where the units of a given fund can be withdrawn, the conditions of withdrawal

The Fund Manager shall partially withdraw the Units of the Fund. Partial withdrawal of Units shall happen when the Fund's liquid money assets after 28 May 2022 increases, as a result of redemption or sale of security assets that form part of the portfolio, dividend payments or income from other securities exceeds EUR 2 million and it does not fall below that amount within 180 days of the yield payment or the Fund does not have collective investment securities following this date. In this case the Fund Manager is obliged to partially or fully withdraw the issued Units to the extent allowed by the liquid money assets and which provides that the principle of proportionality applies as set out below and the Fund Manager pays the consideration of these Units at the net asset value per Unit valid on the day when the withdrawal is performed.

In case the Fund Manager decides on the partial or full withdrawal according to the provisions above, the Fund Manager publishes the announcement related to the withdrawal of the Units on the website of the Fund, in which it informs the Investors about the withdrawal date of Units, the number of units to be withdrawn and the precise process of the withdrawal. In case of partial or full withdrawal of the Units after the publication, the date for settlement shall not fall beyond 20 business days. In this case no other fees with respect to the withdrawal shall be charged to the Fund or the Investors.

In case of partial withdrawal of the Units the principle of equal treatment applies with respect to the Investors. The withdrawal of the Units takes place proportionately, of the nominal value of Units owned by the Investor to the nominal value of the total outstanding Units with respect to the calculation method set out below:

During the first withdrawal the aggregate value for the planned withdrawal is divided with the nominal value of the total outstanding Units. The resulting sum is multiplied with the number of Units owned by the given Investor.

- If the resulting sum does not reach 0,51 then no Unit(s) of the given Investor is withdrawn.
- If the resulting sum exceeds 0,51 then a number of Units is withdrawn equaling to the resulting sum rounded to a whole number.

If a new withdrawal occurs later on and the Investor still possesses a unit, then the value of the rounding of the difference (the value calculated as above, less the number of pieces actually involved) during the previous withdrawal is added to the value being calculated in accordance with the above, and

- If such resulting value does not reach 0,51 then no Unit(s) of the given Investor is withdrawn;
- If such resulting value exceeds 0,51 then a number of Units is withdrawn equaling to the sum rounded down to a whole number.

If a subsequent withdrawal takes place, it shall again proceed as detailed in the previous paragraph until all units have been withdrawn.

Examples:

If 4,000,000,000 forints nominal value Units are outstanding and the aggregate value to be withdrawn is 500,000,000 forints:

- a) if an Investor has 3 Units, then $500,000,000/4,000,000,000*3=0.375$, thus no Unit is withdrawn from this Investor.
- b) if an Investor has 15 Units, then $500,000,000/4,000,000,000*15=1.875$, thus 2 Units are withdrawn from this Investor.
- c) if an Investor has 36 Units, then $500,000,000/4,000,000,000*36=4.5$, thus 4 Units are withdrawn from this Investor.

The value of the aggregate exchange rate of Units withdrawn calculated on the basis of the above method is withdrawn.

If a new withdrawal occurs later on, then the value of the rounding of the difference during the previous withdrawal is added to the value calculated as above in the new withdrawal, which are:

- in case a) 0.375
- in case b) 0.125
- in case c) 0.5

respectively.

63. Circumstances that trigger the termination of the investment fund, the impacts of dissolution on the rights of investors

The Fund Manager and the Supervising Authority have the power to initiate the winding up of the Fund.

This procedure must be started:

- if the net asset value of the investment fund has become negative;

- if the Supervising Authority has withdrawn the license authorising the investment fund manager to conduct fund management business;
- if the Supervising Authority has obligated the investment fund manager to transfer its business but no other investment fund manager has taken transfer of managing the investment fund;
- if the conditions for offering the units continuously for distribution are not ensured even after the suspension of the continuous distribution or the redemption of the units is lifted.

The procedure of dissolution will start without a separate decision to that effect:

- if the investors have submitted redemption orders to redeem all of the units.

The investment fund manager shall notify the Supervising Authority forthwith about its decision to start the dissolution procedure and shall also inform investors and the creditors of the investment fund by publishing an extraordinary announcement.

In the event the Supervising Authority has withdrawn the license authorising the investment fund manager to conduct fund management business or has obligated the investment fund manager to transfer the management of the investment fund, but no investment fund manager takes transfer of the management of the investment fund, the depositary will conduct the dissolution procedure.

While the dissolution procedure is pending, the investment fund operates subject to its general rules with the differences described above.

While the dissolution procedure is pending:

- the net asset value of the investment fund is calculated once a month and is published according to the general rules, provided that the publication shall make a note that the fund is being terminated;
- the continuous distribution of the units is suspended;
- the consideration received from selling the assets of the investment fund may only be invested into liquid assets before the completion date of the dissolution report.

Once the procedure of dissolution has started the financial instruments and the real estate making up the assets of the fund shall be sold in 1 month and 12 months, respectively. Sales of financial instruments and property shall be affected at market price and at the price established by the Valuer, respectively.

The deadline set for completing the sale may be extended by adding 3 months for financial instruments and 6 months for real estate with the approval of the Supervising Authority.

A notice of dissolution shall be prepared in 15 days after the consideration paid for all of the assets held by the investment fund is received and all liabilities are fulfilled. The notice of dissolution shall be submitted to the Supervising Authority and shall be published simultaneously for the investors. Payments may start after the notice of dissolution is published.

The Supervising Authority strikes the investment fund from the register upon the investment fund manager's request on the day after the notice of dissolution is submitted. Once struck from the register, the investment fund ceases to exist.

In case the shareholders' equity of the investment fund is positive, investors are entitled to the (positive amount of) equity becoming available once the consideration has been received from selling the assets of the investment fund pro rata to the units they hold.

During the procedure of dissolution, the consideration received from selling the assets may be used to make partial advance pay-out to investors against the positive bank account balances of the investment fund.

An extraordinary announcement shall be published about each decision to effect partial pay-out. Partial pay-out shall be affected at an identical ratio in proportion to the net asset value of each unit. No pay-out may be affected out of assets covering the liabilities of the investment fund (the claims made by creditors against the investment fund).

The depositary shall begin disbursements of available amounts to investors in 5 business days after the notice of dissolution is submitted to the Supervising Authority by taking into account any amounts disbursed earlier in the framework of pay-outs. An extraordinary announcement shall be published about the start date of disbursements. The Depositary shall keep the amount to be disbursed to investors on a segregated account until payments are made to investors.

In the event of dissolving an investment fund with negative equity, claims of creditors shall be filled according to the ranking provided in the Bankruptcy Act up to the amount available.

64. Conditions for the restructuring, merger with another fund, or division of the investment fund, the relevant procedures, and the impact of the foregoing on investor rights

Transformation of the investment fund

The transformation of the Fund is governed by Articles 80 to 81 of the Act XVI of 2014. For the purposes of this point, a transformation shall mean a change in the characteristics of the Fund described in Article 67(1) of the Act XVI of 2014, with the restriction that UCITS may not be converted into an AIF. The decision of the investment fund manager to transform the investment fund shall be set in a modification of this management policy. Transforming a private investment fund into a public one requires a permission from the Supervising Authority. The Supervising Authority will not authorise the transformation unless, once transformed, the private investment fund complies with the terms and conditions laid out in Act XVI of 2014 on public investment funds. In the case of a transformation of the Fund, the decision requires a majority decision of the unitholders in accordance with the provisions of Article 10.

Merger of the investment fund

The merger of the investment fund shall be governed by article 82 of the Act XVI of 2014. A merger shall mean the operation of the investment fund under Article 84(1) of the Act XVI of 2014. The Fund may only be merged with another investment fund registered under the Act XVI of 2014.

The general provisions of the Act XVI of 2014 and the provisions of the management policy of the fund in question concerning the informing of the investors shall apply to the way in which the holders of units of the merging and acquiring funds are informed in connection with the merger.

In the case of the merger of the Fund, such decision requires a majority resolution of the unit holders in accordance with the provisions of Article 10.

Division of the investment fund (Chapter XV of the Act XVI of 2014)

A division shall mean the operation of an investment fund within the meaning of Article 100(1) of the Act XVI of 2014. The division of the Fund shall be governed by the rules on mergers.

65. All information necessary for investors to be able to make an informed judgement of the investment proposed to them

As the provisions of Regulation (EU) 2015/2365 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 25 November 2015 on amending Regulation (EU) No 648/2012 are impossible to interpret in respect of the Fund, because the Fund does not pursue securities financing transactions and total return swaps

The investments underlying the PENTA Fund take into account EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities, the PENTA Fund is a financial product qualifying within Article 8 of the SFDR Regulation.

The sustainability commitments of the PENTA Fund are summarized below, given that the Fund intends to invest more than 20% of its assets in assets issued by the PENTA Fund, so a more detailed description of the underlying investment is required to ensure that Investors are properly informed. The sustainability commitments of the PENTA Fund are also presented in detail in Annex 2

The ESG aspects have been in the forefront since the establishment of the PENTA Fund and will be implemented in the case of the PENTA Fund as follows:

- Planning and preparations
The PENTA Fund takes into account the local investment market and regulatory environment in all cases when determining ESG KPIs. Local conditions should always be taken into account in the screening process, in addition to industry-specific indicators set out in recognized standards such as SASB and GRESB. Possible developments and improvements will also be considered in this initial phase. The main principles guiding these decisions are that taking into account the entire lifespan of the building, renovations must not harm the environment, and they must be financially beneficial. Renovation contractors will be selected through a process that takes sustainability issues into account. Renovations shall be vetted and planned in accordance with international guidelines for assessing the risks of climate change, such as alignment with the Paris Agreement and guidelines for the European Union's environmental policy objectives, including assessments focusing on fluorinated gases.
- Transaction and execution
The PENTA Fund's due diligence prior to the conclusion of certain investment transactions must always include the ESG aspects, i.e. the assessment of sustainability. The sustainability assessment covers all relevant areas of ESG. Energy efficiency is examined before the investment and also after the measurable effects of SMP have been measured. For a more accurate comparison, energy efficiency is not averaged, but is calculated per workstation or per m² or using any other objective measure.
- Asset management

a. SMP

SMP is a plan to improve the ESG performance of the assets. SMP builds on asset due diligence recommendations and includes ESG KPIs, ESG optimization initiatives and certification strategies, with objectives, specific actions, responsible persons and deadlines. The SMP must also include the need to maintain Capex or asset management in order to improve or maintain the level of sustainability throughout the life cycle of the PENTA Fund. It is crucial that SMP is integrated into the business plan. The SMP shall be developed within twelve (12) months of the acquisition of the asset and shall be evaluated annually thereafter.

b. „Green” lease clauses

The “Building Policy” of all PENTA Fund instruments will include clauses addressing ESG issues. Such Building Policies apply to all tenants, contractors or subcontractors working on site. In addition to the Building Policy, the PENTA Fund seeks to include green clauses in agreements regarding lease extensions or new leases. The PENTA Fund monitors the implementation of the Building Policy and its impact through surveys.

c. ESG KPI

As part of the SMP referred to in point b), the ESG KPI of the asset shall be determined and assessed from time to time during the maintenance period. These indicators are set out in a non-exhaustive list in Annex 2. The ESG KPIs should be developed in accordance with recognized international reporting standards in order to ensure transparency and comparability of PENTA Fund assets and external assets. ESG KPIs are reviewed at least annually. With regard to developments, the PENTA Fund applies the precautionary principle and seeks to implement cost-effective measures to increase ESG's performance while remaining competitive in the investment market.

d. Report on ESG performance

The PENTA Fund publishes information on the ESG performance of assets on an annual basis. The report shall be published together with the annual report as a sustainability annex. In addition to the annual reports, significant sustainability-related results will also be shared when they occur. Further information on sustainability can be found on the Fund Manager's website: www.adventum.hu.

e. Consideration of main adverse effects

Penta Fund does not take into account the negative impact of investment decisions on sustainability factors. The PENTA Fund is currently developing a framework for weighing the main adverse effects of investment decisions on sustainability factors, as defined in Article 4 of the SFDR Regulation. Decisions and disclosures on adverse sustainability impacts at the level of the organisation and financial products will be taken by January 2022, together with mechanisms for compliance with the technical requirements of the SFDR Regulation. In the meantime, the PENTA Fund is already taking these into account implicitly as it encourages investments to improve their ESG performance, in line with the considerations set out in Annex 2.

The main adverse effect taken into account by the PENTA Fund is the impact of inefficient or deteriorating buildings in the real estate industry. The PENTA Fund investment decision-making process considers the sustainability performance of the building throughout its entire life cycle as well as the possible improvements in resource use and CO2 emissions. This means that the PENTA Fund investigates the adverse environmental impacts of developments and seeks to purchase buildings that are worth maintaining at their current consumption, rather than letting them deteriorate or demolishing them. It is important that the PENTA Fund carefully considers developments so that the renovation work does not have a greater adverse impact on the environment than if the building were to remain in its current state.

The Fund is committed to reducing negative environmental and social impacts and preventing harmful processes and applying good governance practices.

In its operation, the Fund pays particular attention to the following:

- Proper definition of responsibilities,
- Use of risk management practices,
- Assess and monitor effects.

Through its own operation, the Fund will achieve support for management characteristics through the following required practice:

- Ethical, respectful and meritocratic operation,
- Applying a remuneration policy in support of required business practices,
- Proper, fair management of conflicts of interest,
- Use of anti-retaliation practices,
- Encouragement to improve ESG performance.
